Miscellaneous Shower

Miss Edna Martin, of Midway, who has been an efficient member of Madison High school faculty this fall term, was given a miscellaneous shower by the students in Madison Institute of a prenuptial affair, as Miss Martin had tendered her resignation to the school board, her marriage to Mr. Wehrle, a prominent young man of Midway, had been announced to take place during the holidays. The rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion and a shower of useful and appropriate gifts for housekeeping were presented the honoree. The faculty assisted in entertaining, delicious refreshments were served and sincere regrets were expressed that Miss Martin would sever her connection with the school, where she has won the admiration of a host of warm friends in Richmond who extend most cordially their congratulations on the happy event.

Blevins—Carrier

Miss Mildred Blevins, age 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blevins of this city and Eldridge Evans Carrier, the nineteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Butler Carrier of the Lancaster pike, eloped to Knoxville, Tenn., Saturday night and were married by Rev. Terrill. The message was conveyed in a telegram to Mr. Carrier Sunday morning and came as a complete surprise as the couple left without making their intentions known to either family. Miss Blevins is popular clerk in the Woolworth store and Mr. Carrier is an industrious young farmer. Their numerous friends extend to them every good wish for their future happiness.

The Rockwood coffee habit is a mighty delightful habit. It makes the best meal, just a little better. If you don't believe it say Rockwood.

Real Parisian Gowns Shown In "Lombardi, Ltd."

Parisian gowns never before shown in this country, and obtained only through the influence of M. P. Staulcup, technical and art director for "Lombardi, Ltd.," starring Bert Lytell, that is the attraction at the local theatres Christmas day as well as the latest creations from Harry Collins and Hickson models, are worn by the six famous beauty mannequins in this picture.

For six of the French gowns the bill was $3,500. The models from Hickson and Harry Collins for which Mr. Staulcup made a special trip to San Francisco to get the gowns as soon as they arrived on the limited from New York, cost approximately the same.

Maxwell Karger, Director General, having cast for the mannequins six of the most beautiful girls that could be found in musical comedy, from the smartest of Fifth Avenue shops, from the ranks of artists' models and from the actresses on the screen, was determined that they should be gowned in a manner fitting their appearances.

In selecting the gowns the problem of Mr. Staulcup was more than one of merely selecting the latest and smartest things. It was complicated by photographic considerations.

"It's those gowns that cause most of my troubles," he said. "Care must be exercised in the selection of colors. Otherwise it might happen that a $1,000 creation would photograph on the screen no better than an inexpensive studio-made costume. Certain shades of color do not show up on the screen, and still other combinations have a clashing or a neutral effect when projected. Some of the most exquisite gowns at my disposal had to be cast aside after we made photographic test of them."

"PRETTY BABY" COMES NIGHT OF DEC. 31

"Pretty Baby," the musical comedy which Jimmie Hodges will present to the patrons of the Richmond Opera House theatre Dec. 31st, is said to be one of the best singing attractions that one would wish to hear. All the way down from Jimmie Hodges and Eva Lappin, the stars with the play to the humble chorists, the voices are said to be excellent.

Jimmie Hodges is a rare combination of singer and comedian and is more than proficient in both lines. Not only is Miss Lappin comely of person and a graceful dancer but her vocal efforts stamp her as a vocalist more melodious than is usually found in the field of musical comedy. There are two others in the cast, Johnnie O'Neil and Tom Williams who are very little, if any behind the luminaries in the cast as to comedy and also run up to them in vocalists.

The standing of the show, however, is not wholly dependent upon the vocal efforts. "Pretty Baby" is brim full of new and original novelties. The scene a top of a New York roof garden which closes the first act, is one which will be remembered many a day.
